

FEVER SPREADING ALONG THE RIVER

MILD CASES OF THE DISEASE
APPEAR DAILY.

State Board Keeps Silence—Yellow Jack frightens the Residents of New Orleans and Governor Foster suggests Secrecy—Panic in Italian Quarters of the City.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 20.—Another death occurred here Sunday from yellow fever, the second within thirty hours and the fifth since the disease asserted itself here. Up to nightfall there were six new cases reported in the city Sunday, and the patients are dotted here and there in various sections of the town.

The lateness of the season will doubtless militate against any alarming mortality, but that many patients will die may be taken for granted when it is considered that frost is not looked for here or in the fever-infected belt until Nov. 1. It is the opinion of well-posted experts on the subject that yellow fever does not become virulent in a district until about a month after it has been implanted, that time being necessary for the disease to overcome the current disease upon which it usually superimposes itself. A feature in favor of the spread of the disease is that the scourge has not been in Louisiana since 1878, save in one or two isolated cases. Since that time fully one-half of the population has been born or is composed of people from other sections who have settled here. These people, it is ordinarily believed, would be the chief victims of the disease provided it becomes epidemic.

The greatest trouble about the situation is that the presence of the fever has occasioned an alarm throughout this section of the country that seems wholly needless. The panic has never been so widespread nor the shotgun policy so strictly enforced, even when hundreds were dying here and in other infected sections in those years when yellow jack reigned supreme. So much has this feeling unbalanced the trade in the states of Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana that the local papers have recommended that the state boards of health discontinue their regular meetings, because the nightly conferences have the tendency only to alarm the people. Acting on this suggestion Gov. Foster communicated with the local state board and advised against the regular meetings, which had been held nightly for two weeks, and his advice was accepted. Henceforth there will be no regular meetings, save in cases of emergency. This decision, intended to allay the public feeling, is having a contrary effect, and people are pointing to the decision as indicative of the fear the board has of the plague scourging New Orleans.

In the Italian quarter the sanitary condition is something fearful and the panic is widespread. A case of fever was discovered in a big tenement, in which sixty people live. The attending doctor made the fact known, and in a trice forty-eight of the inmates fled, leaping over fences and running in every direction to avoid the quarantine which they knew would be imposed against the entire block. The Italians have come to the conclusion that the authorities are persecuting them, and, as they cannot understand English, the situation in their quarters is made uncomfortable for any sanitary officer detailed there.

REPORTS AT WASHINGTON.

Surgeon-General Wymann Notified of the Plan Adopted.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Complete advice have been received by Surgeon-General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital service, of the movements of his officials in the yellow-fever district and of the measures adopted to prevent the spread of the disease.

The arrival of about seventy-five refugees at Atlanta yesterday was reported to Surgeon Sawtelle. There was one suspicious case, slightly ill, which will be detained at the detention camp for ten days. The person's name is Hunt, from Mobile.

Surgeon Carter telegraphs from Mobile that Young, with the concurrence of the State Board of Health, will place inspectors on the north ends of lines from Mississippi to meet the Marine Hospital inspectors from New Orleans.

Two Mild Cases at Cairo.

Cairo, Ill., Sept. 20.—The two suspicious cases at the Marine Hospital here are mild cases of yellow fever. Such is the decision of Dr. Guiteras, the yellow-fever expert. They are now convalescent and the hospital is closely quarantined, so there is no danger of the disease spreading from this quarter. The State Board of Health has issued an order addressed to all the railroads entering the state from the south quarantining against the states of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Slight Increase at Edwards.

Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 20.—The fever at Edwards shows but slight increase, and no deaths have occurred. The State Board has a report from Biloxi showing thirty-six cases to date, besides six suspects and twenty-seven cases of yellow fever now on hand.

British Go Forward.

Bombay, Sept. 20.—Advices from the front show that the various columns are advancing against the Mohmuds from Panjora and Shabkadr. As yet they have met with no serious opposition, but the difficulties of transportation in a mountainous and almost pathless country are immense. Another formidable obstacle in the way of rapid movement is the lack of water.

THE BASEBALL REPORT.

Standing of the Clubs in the Various Leagues.

The great duel between Boston and Baltimore, on which hinges the championship, will begin the last of this week. Before that time the champions have their dreaded series with the Giants at New York. At the same time Boston will be pitted against Brooklyn, which is playing fast ball at present. In the crucial series Baltimore will have the advantage of home grounds.

Standing of the clubs:

GOV. MOUNT IN EARNEST.

Says He Will Insist on the Indictment of the Osgood Gang.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—Governor Mount announces that if the present Ripley county grand jury fails to indict the men who participated in the Versailles lynching, he will send Attorney-General Ketcham to the county to conduct an inquiry before a new jury. There will be no relaxation of effort, he says, until the lynchers have been punished. The governor says he still has confidence in the present jury, but he wishes it understood that he is deeply in earnest in this effort to have the lynchers punished.

A dispatch from Osgood says several persons have suddenly disappeared from that place, and the impression prevails that all the ring-leaders in the lynching will leave the state as soon as they find that the grand jury is close after them.

Odd Fellows at Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—Odd fellows from all over the United States and several foreign countries are here to attend the sessions of the sovereign grand lodge. There is to be a great parade on Tuesday and the prize drills of the Patriarchs Militant will be held on the state fair grounds. The city is decorated for the occasion with flags and tricolored bunting and emblems of the order. The sovereign grand lodge met this morning in representatives' hall, after a public reception in the capitol, when speeches of welcome were delivered by the governor, the mayor of the city, Grand Master Rankin of Illinois and others.

Big Indiana Factories Resume.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 20.—The American wire nail works, employing 700 men; the Lippincott lamp chimney plant, employing 400, and the Mabeth lamp chimney works, employing a like number, all in this (Madison) county, resumed in full blast Sunday night after a shut-down of two months and a half. The Pendleton, Red Key and Greenfield window glass companies have called for the wage scale and will sign independently this week and resume.

Jealousy Causes a Murder.

Du Quoin, Ill., Sept. 20.—Espie Ray, colored, Saturday night, through jealousy, shot and killed Margaret Jarmon, colored. Last night Mrs. Ray's husband and the Jarmon woman went to a circus together, and this so aroused the temper of Mrs. Ray that she secured a revolver and went to the show grounds. When the circus was dismissed Mrs. Ray shot the Jarmon woman.

MILWAUKEE WRECK JAMS UP A CREW

NORTHWESTERN PASSENGER TRAIN HIT BY A FREIGHT.

One Man Fatally Injured—Brakes Prove Unable to Stop the Train On a Downgrade Collision Near the Union Depot at St. Louis Injures Four—Other Casualties.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 20.—One man was fatally injured and four others seriously injured Sunday night in a wreck on the Chicago division of the Chicago & Northwestern road at the foot of Washington street. A freight ran into the passenger train which left here for Chicago at 7.20 o'clock. The injured are:

John Buechner, aged 40 years, of Fond du Lac, Wis., engineer of the switch engine; right leg broken, badly scalded, injured internally; will die. Isaac Severance, aged 38 years, of Milwaukee, engineer of the passenger train; left hip injured and bruised about the head and breast.

Haige Thomas, baggage man, Milwaukee; bruised about the head and arm. Lucar Arthur, Madison, fireman of switch engine; scalded and badly bruised.

Ole Oleson, Milwaukee, fireman of the passenger engine; hurt in jumping. A switch engine in charge of John Buechner was coming down a side-track which ran into the main track. There was a slight down-grade and the train behind the engine was heavy.

Buechner set all brakes, but could not stop the train, which crashed into the passenger train on the main track. It struck the passenger engine at the trucks and threw it, the tender and the baggage car off the track. Buechner, who was doing everything to stop his train, did not realize his danger until he was caught between his cab and the baggage car and was so securely wedged that the side of the baggage car had to be chopped away before he could be rescued. In the meantime the steam from the exhaust pipe scalded him fatally.

The passengers were thrown into a panic by the collision, but as the passenger train was only running at the rate of six miles an hour none of them was injured.

COLLIDE NEAR ST. LOUIS DEPOT.

Passenger Trains Meet and Four Persons Receive Injuries.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.—A collision occurred near the union station Sunday morning between the outgoing Wabash passenger train and an incoming St. Louis, Kansas City & Colorado train. The injured are:

Charles Williams, Moberly, Wabash conductor. Mrs. A. T. Davis and child, Lowry City, Mo.

Mamie Hummel, St. Louis. Jacob Hummel, St. Louis.

The Wabash was just entering a switch from the main track when the Colorado train, which had the right of way, came rushing along at thirty miles an hour. The engineer of the latter train, seeing an accident imminent, applied the air brake, but it failed to work, and the next moment the Wabash engine was thrown from the track, overturned and partly demolished. Conductor Charles Williams was the only one who received serious injuries.

Fatal Train Wreck.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—A fatal train wreck occurred Sunday morning on the Louisville division of the Pennsylvania road just south of Southport. A freight train going north broke in two on the heavy down grade, and when the front end of the train stopped, the rear part, consisting of loaded coal cars, smashed into them. A dozen cars were demolished, and J. L. Marshall, head brakeman, was caught in the wreckage and crushed to death. He was about 30 years old.

Fatal Railway Wreck in Ohio.

Bellaire, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Two sections of a west-bound freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio railway ran into each other at Hephers Station Saturday night. Engineer Cahill, of Newark, Ohio, and three unknown tramps were killed.

Provisions for the Miners.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 20.—A steamer arrived at Dawson City Aug. 18 with 450 tons of provisions to relieve the pressing needs of the miners. The company owning the food issued a statement, assuring them that indiscriminate sale of the necessities of life would be avoided. Each miner was accorded the privilege of purchasing two sacks of flour and ten pounds of sugar. Other staples were to be dealt out in the same proportion. Before the steamer arrived fears were felt that suffering from lack of food could not be avoided. The new supply of food tided over the situation and raised hopes that there would not be as much trouble as anticipated.

United Brethren Conference.

Saybrook, Ill., Sept. 20.—The United Brethren conference Sunday night announced appointments for the ensuing year. Argenta was chosen for the holding of the conference next year. The new United Brethren church of this place, costing $5,000, was dedicated Sunday.

MINERS TREATED WORSE THAN SLAVES

BIG COAL OPERATOR SAYS THE STRIKE IS JUST.

Cannot Live On Their Wages—Charles J. Devlin Advocates Granting Increase to the Miners of Illinois—Should Have a Price Equal to the Columbus Scale

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 20.—Charles J. Devlin, one of the largest coal mine operators in the United States, has declared that the cause of the miners in Illinois was just and that he would not be a party to a further reduction of wages, which would reduce the income of the men below a scant living. He says he has reliable information that at the meeting to-day the operators will endeavor to reduce the scale below the Columbus agreement.

Mr. Devlin is president of the Devlin Coal company of Toluca, Ill., vice president of the Marquette Third Vein Coal company of Marquette, Ill., and president of the Mount Carmel Coal company of this city, which operates all of the Santa Fe mines in this state. He said:

"The miners of Illinois should get a price equal to the Columbus scale. The price which they were forced to accept last May and which they refused to continue to work on is not enough to keep body and soul together. The average miner cannot earn more than $1 per day the year around."

"Slavery for the miners would be preferable to the wages they were getting, for in slavery they would get enough to eat and drink and wear, while under present conditions and present prices they are forced to work for they cannot buy provisions enough, let alone clothe themselves and families. Since they came out the prices of provisions have advanced, particularly flour, to not less than $1 per hundred."

"I am willing to join the operators in paying a price equal to the Columbus scale and will use every effort in that direction. I have yet to meet the first large consumer of coal who is not in favor of giving the miners a fair price for their labor."

STRIKE MAY END TODAY.

Attempt Will Be Made to Resume Work Under Military Protection.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 20.—Absolute quiet prevailed in the entire strike district Sunday. Vice-President McGuire, of the Federation of Labor, left for Washington to attend the meeting of the executive council, which is to consider the situation, and George Chance, of the United Labor League, went to Scranton for a similar meeting of labor men there. To-day is looked forward to as a decisive day. An attempt will be made to resume at Latimer, where there are 1,300 men, and at Audenried. There are nearly 2,500 men at the latter place, and they were the first to go out. Many of them want to return to work, but bands of women have prevented them during the last few days. To insure protection a squadron of cavalry and the entire Eighth regiment went to the scene. The men at Cox's Drift mine are also to decide upon staying out or continuing at work. All these places are well guarded by the troops, and if the men are peacefully permitted to resume work it is thought that the backbone of the strike will be broken and no further violence will result. The coroner's inquest will begin on Wednesday afternoon, instead of Thursday, as first intended.

Gen. Woodford Talks with the Queen.

Madrid, Sept. 20.—The Duke of Tetuan had a long interview Sunday with the queen and United States Minister Woodford. The conference lasted about two hours and has given rise to a good deal of excited surmise. Little appears to have been said, however, beyond the interchange of customary courtesies and mutual assurances of pacific intentions and good will. The ministerial organs assert that the Spanish foreign minister, the Duke of Tetuan, will soon be gazetted as Spanish ambassador to France.

Mexican Police Officials Arrested.

City of Mexico, Sept. 20.—Eduardo Velasquez, chief of police; Lieutenant Cabrera, assistant chief of detectives, and Commandant Mauro Sanchez were arrested Saturday night, taken to prison and placed in solitary confinement by order of the fifth criminal judge, to whom had also been turned over twenty-one prisoners arrested for entering the municipal building on the night of the recent lynching. Public opinion is behind the government, and the investigation will be pushed rapidly.

Brings Great Britain to Time.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The officials of the state department are not disposed to comment on the fur seal correspondence given out by the British foreign office and summarized in the London Times further than to say that it shows the object sought by the government of the United States for the last three years has been attained by the agreement of Great Britain to participate in the conference to be held in October.

Confirms the Andree Story.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 20.—The Official Messenger confirmed the announcement that on Sept. 14, at 11 p. m., the inhabitants of the village of Antzifrowskoje, in the district of Yeniseisk, arctic Russia, saw for five minutes a balloon believed to be that of Prof. Andree, the aeronaut. The Messenger adds that it is supposed in official circles the balloon is that of the arctic explorer mentioned.

LUETGERT RESTS A DAY.

Lawyers Plan a Defense—Judge Overrules the State Lawyers.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Adolph Louis Luetgert has a rest from the routine of court to-day. There is no session in branch 2, and the defendant's attorneys devote the day to considering their plan of attack on the evidence as introduced by the state. The sausage-maker may go on the stand to testify in his own behalf, although this has not been definitely arranged as yet. Whether or not he will tell his own story will depend upon the circumstances surrounding the work of the week.

Expert testimony will be offered by a dozen or more specialists. It is claimed that the rings found in the vat will be shown to be imitations of those worn by Mrs. Luetgert, and that it will be possible to explain the presence of the master of the factory in the basement of the building the night of May 1.

The state tried to establish a motive for the alleged killing of Mrs. Luetgert by her husband at Saturday's session of the trial, but no testimony on the subject was taken, and Judge Tuthill may prevent its introduction. An argument, with the jury absent, followed the attempt of the prosecution to put Watchman Bialk on the stand for this purpose, and after the legal battle court was adjourned until Tuesday morning, at which time Judge Tuthill will rule on the questions involved.

RIOT AT EDDYVILLE, IOWA.

Linemen Assault and Seriously Injure Marshal Closson and a Deputy.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 20.—News has been received here from Eddyville, a small town in Wapello county, of a serious riot Saturday night, in which two officers were seriously injured.

A large number of telephone linemen, stretching the long distance wire from New York, are now at Eddyville. Saturday night some of them started in "to run the town." Marshal Closson attempted to arrest them in their hotel, but they disarmed him and threw him out of the house. Closson secured assistance and returned to make the arrest. The house was surrounded by deputies while the marshal and one deputy started upstairs to a room where the men had taken refuge. They were assaulted and seriously injured. The marshal's jaw was broken in two places and his head frightfully cut. The injuries of the deputy are also serious. The linemen then began shooting from a window with a Winchester, but no one was hit.

The assailant of the marshal escaped from the house, and a large crowd hunted for him several hours with a rope. Sheriff Stodghill and a posse were called from Ottumwa and caught the man in a field near Eddyville. Three others were arrested, and all are now in jail here.

Several Plans Offered.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—All of the appointees of the "sound-money" commission having signified their acceptance, several plans have already been prepared for submission to the commission. One of these looks to the retirement of the greenbacks, as suggested in Secretary Carlisle's last report, while another is in effect to retire all bank notes under $5, substituting instead silver. Still another proposition looks to a gradual extinguishment of the national debt, which necessarily will modify the present banking system, and that the government authorize the organization of national banks, the same to deposit a sum equal to their capital stock in gold or silver.

Think Tate Is Yet Living.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 20.—Detectives are on the trail of "Dick" Tate, the defaulting treasurer, who skipped with $200,000 of the state funds twelve years ago. Tate left several insurance policies and Mrs. Martin, his daughter, fled suit to collect them, claiming that Tate was dead. The Connecticut Life Insurance Company employed detectives, who claim to have discovered proof that Tate is alive. It is claimed that he was among the Pan-Americans from Central and South America who visited the principal cities of this country in the spring. He was disguised, and escaped detection. A detective has been sent to Brazil, where it is claimed Tate now resides and is a wealthy man.

Eldon Bank Robbery Cases.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 20.—The last of the Eldon bank robbery cases ended Saturday with the conviction of C. J. Stevens, the Eldon marshal, of breaking and entering. The state produced the evidence of one of Stevens' accomplices and that of four other persons to whom he confessed that he planned the whole thing, but the jury found him guilty only of opening the bank and letting the robbers in.

Greece Is Sorry She Fought.

Athens, Sept. 21.—The condition of the peace signed between the ambassadors of the powers on behalf of Greece and Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister, at Tophanch palace, are universally pronounced by the Greek press to be exceedingly onerous. The public generally accepts the result with mournful resignation.

BURNED THE CHURCH TO SETTLE A ROW

ODD RELIGIOUS OUTBREAK
NEAR RICHLAND CENTER.

To Show Their Earnestness Dissenting Members of the Hub City Flock Throw Bombs and Adopt Fire-Bug Tactics—Murderer's Home Is Destroyed.

Richland Center, Wis., Sept. 20.—[Special]—The church trouble culminated at Hub City last night in the burning of the church or hall in which services were held. About a week ago a bomb was thrown at the building and exploded with terrific force, badly frightening the people. The regular church building known as Garfield church was burned about a month ago.

The home of Jerome Fry, in the town of Williams, including outbuildings and the granary, which was full of grain, was destroyed by fire last night. Fry is the man who killed E. Thompson about three weeks ago. Fry and his family were away from home. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

Indiana Suffers No Injury.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Acting Secretary Roosevelt as an answer to recently published reports that the battleship Indiana was injured while in the Hallifax dry dock has made public a report received from Captain Henry Taylor, commanding the vessel, made shortly after the docking, who says the injury is slight. In connection with the report Mr. Roosevelt states that the slight buckling of the Indiana's bottom was of no consequence, as was indicated by the fact that the ship took her place in the squadron immediately after leaving the dock and maneuvered as satisfactorily as could be desired. Neither the speed nor the efficiency of the ship has been affected in the slightest degree.

Senate Stands in the Way.

London, Sept. 20.—The Times says: "The statement of the American press that the state department at Washington and the British ambassador have received instructions to reopen negotiations for a general treaty of arbitration is at least premature. It is not improbable that the negotiations, which have never been broken off, may be resumed next month, when Sir Julian Pauncefote returns to his post; but it is difficult to see how a treaty of any practical value can be concluded so long as the senate maintains the hostile and obstructive attitude it displayed when it last discussed the question."

Gen. Lee Talks with the President.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, consul general to Cuba, had a long consultation with the president at the White House Saturday. It was the first time Gen. Lee had seen Mr. McKinley since the former's return to this country, about a fortnight ago. He saw the president by special appointment, and all visitors were excluded during the conference except Secretary Alger, who came over from the war department, and remained until after Gen. Lee's departure. The conference was a long one, lasting almost two hours.

Corn Is Now All Made.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The frosts of the closing days of the last week do not materially affect the corn crop of the year. The three weeks of excessive heat which preceded this close of the growing season of 1897 pushed corn beyond frost danger and ripened the crop up quite as thoroughly as is the case in a year of normal conditions. The crop is now made, and there is no reason warranting any increase in estimates of the aggregate crop. A maximum of 1,750,000,000 bushels is fully as much as is warranted.

Kentucky Town Nearly Destroyed.

Nicholasville, Ky., Sept. 20.—With the exception of the store of Joplin & Co. the entire business portion of the flourishing town of Wilmore, six miles south of this place, on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. The total loss is estimated at over $50,000; insurance, about one-half.

Earthquake Shock in Switzerland.

Berne, Sept. 20.—The cantons of Glarus and Grisons were visited Sunday by a severe earthquake shock, accompanied by heavy rumbling. The disturbance was so distinct that it was everywhere noticeable, and in many places great blocks of rock fell from the mountains.

Uruguay Rebellion Ends.

Montevideo, Sept. 20.—The treaty of peace between the government and the insurgents was signed Sunday. Congress has unanimously approved the peace conditions, and there is general enthusiasm over the result.

New Turkish Minister Named.

Constantinople, Sept. 20.—Forough Bey, councillor of the Turkish embassy at St. Petersburg, has been appointed Turkish minister to the United States in succession to Moustapha Tachsin Bey.

Insurgents Capture Placetas.

Key West, Fla., Sept. 20.—The story of the attack and capture of Placetas, as confirmed. The insurgents, after taking all that was needed, left the town people terrified. The insurgents captured all convoys sent to Placetas.

SPEAKS OF LEGACY OF FATHERHOOD

REV. R. C. DENISON'S SERMON ON HEREDITY.

Taking the Moral and Spiritual Aspect of the Subject He Points Out the Duties of the Fathers of Today—What Church Membership Means.

At the Congregational church Rev. Mr. Denison spoke on the theme, "The Legacy of Fatherhood," from the text: My father, my father, the chariots of Israel and the horsemen thereof. 2nd Kings 2:12. He said in substance:

These words are from the parting scene between Elijah and Elisha—a young man and an old man. The young man had followed the old man many years. He had learned from him and depended on him. But now the old man's work is done. The young man is alone. With straining eyes and eager heart, he follows the departure of that strong old man and as the solemn realization comes over him that he shall see his spiritual father no more he gathers all the influence of that father up into the splendid words, "My father, my father, the horsemen of Israel and the chariots thereof." It is the young man's verdict on the old man's life. It sums up the influence of one generation which extends over into the next. Of course we know that one generation must influence the next. It is written so in the eternal laws of nature. There is much discussion in the schools about how much in the purely physical world one generation can inherit from the preceding one. But we do know that many and many a boy has wrestled this life against an appetite or a habit that his father's life before him helped to give him, and many a boy has walked with firmer step because of what his father was before him.

Ask why a young man has an interest in religious things, and one reason is most likely to be, because his father was before him. I do not say the children of every pure and righteous father will be pure and righteous themselves; but if he goes down to disgrace, the least influence that will cling and hold him, to the upper world will be the impression of his father's manhood.

We are all in some sense heirs of the ages. The generations are linked each to each. We stand today before the gateway of the twentieth century, and we hear great hopes for the future. But if the twentieth century is free, if it is better than this, if the next generation is happier than this, it will be, in part, because they, too, are able to turn their faces towards wherein we lived and say, "Our fathers, our fathers, the chariots of Israel and the horsemen thereof."

What, then, can the fathers of this generation do for the next—that must they do. After a father has provided for the physical wants of his child and given him a well trained mind there are other legacies of fatherhood which I believe he is bound to provide and first, I say, an example of righteousness and in that the influence of the father outweighs all other influence when our lives are ended and our places know us no more. Men will not need books of history to tell them what manner of men we were—they can read it in our sons.

There is another legacy of fatherhood—and that is religious life—for the thing that will do most to turn the hearts of the next generation to God will be the lives of the fathers. It may be objected that many religious fathers have irreligious sons, that does not destroy the truth that a father's example is the best religious influence. No man has done his complete duty nor left the fullest legacy of fatherhood until he has helped his son to see that life reaches to God; and in this connection I say that while I do not believe in salvation by church membership, I cannot help saying that I believe a man's conscience will be a little clearer who can say I bore my part in the great organization of Christ's followers, who did what they could to give to the young the ideals and hopes of religion.

O, fathers of today do you not know, that the real monument to what you have done and are remembered for, will not be the shaft in the graveyard, but the best legacy and memorial will be in the next generation that stands at your gravesides and cries through its tears: "My father, my father, the horsemen of Israel and the chariots thereof."

THE SPIRITUAL EXPERIENCE.

Rev. E. H. Pence Shows That the Term Is Broader Than Morality.

At the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. E. H. Pence, talked of "The Spiritual Element in Christian Experience." He said:

We have not found all that there is in Christianity when we have given our intellectual assent to the truths that it presents, nor even when we have lived a moral life. There is a broader word than morality, and that is spirituality. I contend that there is no word in all the universe so important for you to understand the meaning of if you are to get at the gist and essence of Christian experience as that word spirituality.

The spiritual minded soul instinctively looks upon service as its opportunity, and it looks upon service as so high an achievement that it feels instinctively its total inadequacy to the task of service, and looks to God, and God alone, the infinite helper as the source from which it can get help. In our text, "Quicken me with thy loving kindness, O shall I keep the testimony of thy mouth," we see the devout confession, and yet the devout expectation of a spiritual soul. There is suggested first of all the necessity of feeling the need of the sense of God. When you try to run a church on mere human enthusiasm, you fail. Human enthusiasm is a bubble easily burst, especially where selfishness, pride, passion and self-indulgence are in such constant danger of collision. What keeps churches alive is just this, a body of people, small or great, who feel and secure God's help.

Our text suggests the unfulfilling help that comes to one who cries to God for help and then opens his heart ready to receive.

There never was a prayer of that kind that was not answered. The answer may come in one or two ways. By unexpected providence as when Daniel was saved from the lions and when Peter was delivered from prison. Or it may come by a new spirit within us, so that we shall not care whether the obstacle is removed or not, or we may have the spirit to go right on in the midst of obstacles in the confidence of help.

God seems different to other people. The spiritual soul thinks of God as a great judge, and not that alone, but the merciful Saviour; he thinks of God as the great Lord of the universe; but more than that, as the touch of a mother upon the face of her babe as it lies asleep, so the spiritual soul feels the exquisite touch of God's gentleness.

After a short devotional meeting, the Christian Endeavor meeting was given up to reports of the San Francisco convention. Those who took part were:

Miss Kate Kirk, "The Trip"
Miss Matella Calkins, "Salt Lake City."
Mrs. Sanford Soverhill, "Portland."
Miss Emma Paulson, "The Convention."

The delegates were not able to finish their reports in the time given, and as the stay-at-homes are very anxious to hear most, there will probably be a continuation at the young people's meeting next Sunday evening.

LOCAL BUILDERS ARE BUSY

Several New Dwellings Are Now Nearing Completion.

Carpenters have now well under way a dwelling on Glen street for Clarence Brown. Its cost will be about $1800.

The work of excavating for the new Grundy tobacco warehouse on Pleasant street is progressing fast.

A new basement 8 1/2 x 33 feet is being added to the Haviland tobacco warehouse on North Academy street.

A. J. Harris' new dwelling on Sinclair street is well under way and will be ready for occupancy this fall.

The heavy carpenter work on T. W. Goldin's new residence on Court street is nearing completion.

George Crane's newly constructed residence on Washington street is a credit to that part of the town.

HUNG WITH CENTURY BARS

Edwin Ehle and O. C. Mandeville Have 115 of the Trophies.

With one hundred and fifteen gold century bars dangling from their sweaters Edwin Ehle and O. C. Mandeville wheeled into Janesville from Chicago Saturday afternoon. They were accompanied by Dr. Fred Burr formerly of this city. The trio left Janesville at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, making the trip of one hundred and eighteen miles via Lake Geneva. Ed Ehle who is a former Janesville boy, has fifty-one of the one hundred and fifteen bars. The party returned home yesterday.

HINBERT WILKES IS HOME

Janesville Pacer Has Had A Successful Season—More Speed Promised.

Hinbert Wilkes, the pacer, is home after a successful three weeks tour in the northern part of the state and Minnesota. At the Chippewa county fair given at Chippewa Falls he made his last race, securing third money. He will be entered in several other events before the season is over. Jas. Scott, his driver, is well satisfied with the work accomplished this summer and looks for even better work next season.

To heal the broken and diseased tissues, to soothe the irritated surfaces, to instantly relieve and to permanently cure is the mission of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. O. D. Stevens.

Races At Shullsburg, Wis.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R'y. will sell excursion tickets to Shullsburg, Wis., and return from Sept. 21 to 24 inclusive, at a fare and a third for the round trip. Good for return until Sept. 25 inclusive.

FOOT BALL PLAYERS READY FOR THE GRID

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM STRONGER THAN EVER.

Nearly All the Old Members In Line and Several Candidates From the Second Team Promise to Show Up Well—Several Games Scheduled.

With the opening of the High school, renewed interest has been taken in football, and this year the school will send upon the gridiron the strongest team it has ever had. All but two of the old players will be in their places, and the two vacant positions have been amply filled in the persons of Ray D. Stewart and Boyd Knott. The rules which govern the inter-scholastic football organizations, are such that only members of the High school pursuing their studies, with an average above 75 per cent, with all back work made up, are eligible to team memberships. This year all players must have the consent of their parents before they can enter into athletic sports and football.

The members of the present football team are: Fred Sutherland, captain; Edward Jerg, Clarence Smith, Clarence McDonald, Stewart Murwin, Henry Carpenter, Boyd Knott, Philip Casford, Len Mathews, Ray D. Stewart, Ira Millmore. Changes are likely to be made and several second team players promoted to the first team. The boys have been practicing hard for the last week at the foot of Jackson street and much hard work has been done by the team under the efficient coaching of Fred Sutherland. Mr. Meyers, of Beloit college has just been secured as coach and hereafter will meet the boys twice a week.

The first game will be played next Saturday afternoon at Athletic park with Beloit High school.

The other games which Manager Mark McNamara has arranged are as follows:

October 9, Janesville at Evansville.
October 16, Delavan at Janesville.
October 23, Janesville at Beloit.
November 6, Evansville at Janesville.

November 28, Evansville at Janesville.

Other games are being arranged with Racine, Oregon, Edgerton, Whitewater and Elkhorn.

JANESVILLE A HEALTHY CITY

The Health Officer Gives the Town a Clean Bill of Health.

City Health Officer Gibson reports that Janesville has been exceptionally healthy this summer as far as contagious diseases are concerned. Less than half a dozen cases have occurred within the past six months. This speaks well for a city of 15,000 or more population that is without a sewer system. Just now Rockford, Ill., is suffering from several severe cases of diphtheria.

Small precautions often prevent great mischiefs. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very small pills in size, but are most effective in preventing the most serious forms of liver and stomach trouble. They cure constipation and headache and regulate the bowels. C. D. Stevens.

CANTILLON TEAM LOST MONEY

Drew Poor Crowds Throughout the Season, and Finished in the Hole.

When Joe Cantillon, of this city, assumed the management of the Dubuque base ball team, the "fame" hoped that the team could be made a winner. The results did not bear them out. The Dubuque Telegraph says: "The pay roll has been $1,200 per month, including salary of park custodian, etc., and a few men have had to foot the bills. They did this with the thought of holding the franchise for next season and turning it over to Tom Loftus with $2,000 and instructions to put in a club that would finish the season and land in the first division. Perhaps this project has been abandoned by this time. It must be apparent to all now that baseball in the towns composing the Western association is played out and must be given a rest for some years."

The Dubuque ball team will not visit Janesville this season. Local ball lovers have not been prompt enough to accept the recent offer made by the management.

IDEAL CYCLING WEATHER THIS

Local Cycling Business Is On the Increase and Riders Active.

William Schaar, the trick bicycle rider of Chicago, who is now in the city, says that he will soon accomplish the feat of riding down the court house steps.

H. O. Stearns may be seen daily taking exercise on a bike.

The acrobatic work of the Arabs in the Buffalo Bill show didn't compare with the header that John Fletcher took while coasting down the East Milwaukee street hill.

The majority of the members of the Golf club now make the trip to the grounds on their wheels.

W. M. Barnum, representing Morgan & Wright, the tire manufacturers, was in the city today and predicted that the best wheels on the market next year would not retail for more than $50.

PUBLIC KNOWS A GOOD THING

Sale of Shoes Crowded the O. L. Lincoln & Co. Store.

The fact that a downright bargain, something that has good value at the price offered will attract a throng if well advertised was pretty well demonstrated at the shoe sale started Saturday morning by O. L. Lincoln & Co. As early as 6 o'clock people were anxiously awaiting the opening of the doors and the store has been literally jammed with purchasers all day. The rush has kept up ever since.

No better way of reaching a great number of people can be found than through the columns of a newspaper and the great success of this sale was insured by newspaper advertising.

THE KLONDIKE HATH CHARMS

Janesville Will Be Represented There Next Spring.

Signs are multiplying that Janesville will send a delegation to the Klondike next spring. Local Agent Charles Jenkins of the North American Transportation & Trading Company says that several have made inquiries as to the fare to Alaska. An almost invariable inquiry regarding the transportation is the return portion.

Thomas Hawkin's letter from Dawson City, recently published in The Gazette has attracted much interest. Mr. Hawkins is an old Janesville boy. There are said to be three others in Alaska who are likely to be heard from at almost any time.

LEAF TOBACCO TRANSFERS

Prompt Reform of Bodily Evils.

The prompt reform of those bodily evils, enfeebled digestion, incomplete assimilation, inactivity of the liver, kidneys, and bladder, as well as of the nervous system which these ailments are especially prone to beget, is always accomplished by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine accredited by physicians, pronounced pure by analysis, and eminently wholesome and agreeable. Surely such a restorative is preferable to unpalatable and indigestible mineral drugs and unsanctioned nostrums. The nation at large assuredly thinks so, judging by the unprecedented demand for the article from Maine to the Pacific, a demand now supplemented by immense orders for it received from tropical America, Mexico, the British and Spanish Colonial possessions, and elsewhere. Both at home and abroad it is recognized as a standard remedy and preventive, the decisiveness of its effects recommending it everywhere.

Attention Co. A.

You are hereby ordered to appear at the Armory Tuesday evening, September 21, at 7:45, for annual inspection. Per Order CHARLES L. HANSON, Captain.

Why He Was Excused.

"You wish to be relieved from jury duty, but you haven't a good reason," said the judge.

"It's public spirit," said the unwilling taleman, "on the score of economy. I have dyspepsia, judge, and I never agree with anybody. If I go on this jury there will be a disagreement, and the county will have to go to the expense of a new trial."

"Excused," said the judge.—Green Bag.

"Job's Birthday"

—the date be cursed! So a tired-out and exasperated woman speaks of Monday—wash-day. And so, probably, would every woman who celebrates it so often in the old-fashioned, wearing way. Though why they do it, when there's a better way that can't be found fault with, is a mystery.

You'd better celebrate the death of the day, by using Pearlline. You wouldn't recognize it—with its ease, comfort, cleanliness, short hours, economy in time and in things washed.

Don't let prejudice against modern ideas stand in your way. Don't wear yourself out over the wash-tub just because your ancestors had to.

Millions use Pearlline

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

- 355 B. C.—Alexander the Great was born at Pella; died at 32.
1092—Bishop John Gauden, author of the novel "Elkon Basilek," long attributed to Charles I, died.
1740—Charles VI, emperor of Germany, died at Vienna.
1792—Battle of Valmy, decisive victory of the French revolution; the French, under ROBT. EMMET, defeated the Prussians, commanded by the Duke of Brunswick.
1800—Robert Emmet, eminent and universally revered Irish patriot, hanged at Dublin for treason; born 1780. Emmet was prominent in the uprising of 1798 and was leading a new movement when he fell into the hands of the government. His firm bearing on the scaffold is cherished as one of the sublimest traditions of his race.
1850—Vice Admiral Sir Thomas Hardy of Copenhagen and Trafalgar, flag captain to Nelson on board the Victory, died; born 1760.
1804—Giovanni Battista de' Rossi, celebrated Italian archaeologist, at Rome, died; born 1822. Mme. Fursch-Madi, a noted soprano, who created the title role of Aida, died at Mount Bethel, N. J.; born 1847.

Old Enough for Anything.
"I've brought you some lace for your stall at the bazar, Lizzie. I'm afraid it's not quite old enough to be really valuable. I had it when I was a little girl."

"Oh, that's old enough for anything, dearest. How lovely! Thanks so very much."—Tit-Bits.

The National Failing.
Jackson—I'm going to start a new paper, and I think I'll call it the Umbrella.

Merrill—Why?
Jackson—Because everybody who sees it will take it.
Merrill—Yes, they'll take it, but they won't pay for it.—Up-to-Date.

For Brain Food.
Borus (somewhat in the literary line)—Naggus, I'm trying to collect material for another novel. Have you anything to suggest?

Naggus (somewhat in the book reviewing line)—Yes. Eat victuals that are rich in phosphorus.—Chicago Tribune.

Forethought.
"Lady," said Meandering Mike, plaintively, "if I was ter ax ye fur work, would ye have de heart to refuse me?"
"No," she answered, "I wouldn't."

"Den," he replied, turning sadly away, "I won't ax ye."—Washington Star.

The Test of Wisdom.
How much of wisdom we can see With sages who with us agree. But fools who hold some other view— Oh, bah! They're not worth listening to.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

JUST LIKE THE REST OF US.

"I say, old fellow, how long did you know your wife before you married her?"
"I didn't know her at all, dear boy."—Leslie's Monthly.

Revenge on a Rival.
He traced Maud's name upon the sand— A tribute to the lovely bud— A jealous wave rushed up the land, Washed out the "a" and left it "Mud."—Chicago News.

Happy Thought.
Mrs. Brown-Jones—They say there will be no marriage or giving in marriage in Heaven.
Her Husband—That's what makes it Heaven.—Yellow Book.

A Character Touch.
"Miss Brush has achieved considerable success as a painter."
"I notice that she bears traces of her success on her face."—Philadelphia North American.

Inconsistency.
Daisy—If I marry you won't we be one?
Cholly—Certainly.
Daisy—And yet you tell me not to be a fool.—Town Topics.

That Gentle Touch.
Bell—It's wonderful what a change a woman can work in a man after marriage.
Nell—You mean "work out of him," don't you?—N. Y. Herald.

No Change.
Clara—Do you know, I didn't meet one man all the time I was at the hotel.
Maude—I suppose it seemed just like home to you.—Brooklyn Life.

Lasting.

"What sort of impression did Clara's young man make on you?"
"When I first met him?"

"Yes."

"Well, he was scorching, with his head down, and the impression he made upon me was a bruise I didn't get over for a week."—Chicago Tribune.

Just as a Test.

"Sometimes I think," said a dejected man, "that their order to be tax on husbands."

"What for?" asked his friend.

"I'd just like to see," said the man of the first part, "whether she would pay it as willingly as she does on the pug dog."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

A Positive Cure for Dyspepsia.

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspepsia is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extremes or else deluging the already overburdened stomach with "bitters" "after dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained.

This is the great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merits.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach. The sufferer from Dyspepsia according to directions is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food, and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your dyspepsia may be, because as before stated, the tablets will digest the food, even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,500 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the time a radical, lasting cure of dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of the many remedies advertised to cure dyspepsia none of them has given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

A little book on cause and cure of stomach trouble sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall Mich.

Kind Words For W. T. Vankirk.
We see that Captain W. T. Vankirk is a candidate for the position of Janesville. He has been a leading merchant of Janesville for forty years, and is now and has been for twenty five years chairman of the republican county committee. He has spent more of his own time and money for the success of his friends and the party than any other man in Rock county. He has never held an office that we know of and his friends believe he is entitled to the place if he wants it. He has many friends in Green county who would be glad to hear of his appointment—Breckhaus Register.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where One Minute Cough Cure would bring immediate relief. C. D. Stevens.

ONCE MORE UNITED IN HYMENAL BONDS

MANAGER W. H. STODDARD AND WIFE RECONCILED.

The News Comes In a Dispatch From Mrs. Stoddard's Former Home, Chippewa Falls—She Has Been Living With Her Father In Daytona, Florida.

News of the reconciliation of Manager W. H. Stoddard, of this city, and his former wife came in the morning papers today. Mrs. Stoddard has been in Florida but has kept up her acquaintance in Chippewa Falls and the dispatch announcing the marriage is printed by the Milwaukee Sentinel today under a Chippewa Falls date. It reads as follows:

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 19—News has been received here of the reconciliation of W. H. Stoddard and wife of Fond du Lac, formerly of this city. Mr. Stoddard has recently leased the opera house at Fond du Lac and will run it in connection with the Myers Opera house at Janesville, which he has managed the past three years. Mrs. Stoddard is a daughter of Daniel Seymour, a former banker of this city, the failure of whose institution in 1893 caused so much trouble to depositors and resulted in the financial ruin of Mr. Seymour and his family. Mr. Seymour is now residing at Daytona, Fla., where Mrs. Stoddard went shortly after the decree of divorce was granted her husband in a Janesville court. The re-marriage of the parties occasions as much interest here as did the divorce proceedings. Mr. Stoddard having been engaged in business here many years before adopting his present occupation.

Manager Stoddard took nobody in Janesville into his confidence and his marriage was a complete surprise here. The fact that Mrs. Stoddard was here a month ago and that there were several interviews was recalled this morning.

Mr. Stoddard shipped a carload of household goods to Fond du Lac a week ago and will make Fond du Lac his home this winter coming to Janesville as often as is necessary to manage the opera house.

CAME HERE AND MET GRIEF
Madison Songsters Suffer From Exposure to the Janesville Air.

Two gay Madison birds with plumage bedraggled were arrayed before his Honor in the municipal court this morning by Chief Hogan and, twittered their regrets. It seems that their own burg was not large enough to let them spread their wings so they came to Janesville. Chief Hogan sympathized with them but was obliged to lock them up in the interest of sleeping citizens. They were quiet enough this morning and succeeded in borrowing the necessary $12 to pay their aggregate fines and costs, and were last seen sitting on the depot platform waiting for a Capital City train.

Olaf Johnson, who in his Clinton door yard and environs, is a peaceful citizen, took on too much River street whisky last night. The officers were kind enough to take him to a hotel and tried to put him to bed. Going to bed was entirely foreign to Johnson's intention and he was locked up in the jail instead. Today he put in the weary hours waiting for his boss to send him up $6, the price of his liberty, from Clinton.

Alfred A. Daller, father, has changed his mind in a week regarding the incorrigibility of his 15 year-old son Alfred J. Daller, and this morning asked that the complaint made last week which would otherwise have sent the boy to Waukesha, be dropped. The district attorney assenting the matter was dropped.

WILL VOTE ON HIGH LICENSE
Citizens Called Upon Next Tuesday to Determine Amount For Next Three Years

A fact not generally understood is that a special election will be held in this city on next Tuesday for the purpose of determining the amount of the license for the ensuing three years. The law provides that once in three years, on the third Tuesday of September, the question of the amount of license may be submitted to the voters and shall be so submitted upon written request of twelve citizens.

A position was signed by eighteen citizens, complying with the law, calling for the election as stated. The issues are for a license of $500, one of $350 and one of $200 per year, for the next three years.

This license money is applied by the city to the Fire and Water fund to the extent of $4,500 and the balance, if any, to the General fund.

The revenue derived by the city last year under the $500 license was about $23,000.

It does not require a very astute mind to see that any decrease in the license means an increase of taxes.

STOUFFER'S ARM SHOT OFF
Former Janesville Singer Meets with a Serious Accident While Hunting.

F. L. Stouffer, formerly of this city, and well known in local musical circles, met with a distressing accident near St. Paul Saturday. He located a covey of prairie chickens in the vicinity of Macalester. Saturday morning he borrowed a gun and started out for the birds. He reached the point where he had before seen the birds, cocked his gun and made ready for a prospective shot. Stumbling, he fell, and the charge of shot went into the left wrist, badly mauling the arm. He was taken to the office of Dr. Henderson and the doctor decided that an amputation of forearm was necessary. The amputation was made, Dr. Henderson being assisted by Doctors Richardson, Beckley and Phillips. The shock to Stouffer's system was severe and even dangerous, but an hour after the operation was completed he was strong enough to be taken to his home, 432 Wheeler avenue, St. Paul.

DID HIS HARVESTING BY ELECTRIC LIGHT

CHARLES F. RANDALL'S RACE WITH FROST.

Two Thousand Dollars Worth of Tobacco Out of Doors and the Thermometer Dropping With Alarming Rapidity—Quick Work Done to Save the Crop.

Night work by a gang of harvesters under the glare of an electric light saved $2000 for Charles F. Randall.

When Mr. Randall goes to Buffalo on another excursion he will leave somebody to keep watch of Jack Frost.

He got back this time just as the weather prophet buttoned his ulster.

Mr. Randall is a believer in letting tobacco mature thoroughly. This year he pressed the limit. He remained in Buffalo until neighbors who had long since harvested their leaf began to telegraph warnings.

When he struck Janesville Saturday night Mr. Randall could see signs of a cold wave all around him. His twenty acres of tobacco bid fair to be worth about $2.35 for fertilizer unless there was quick work.

In the tobacco business Sunday observance is not always absolute. Mr. Randall got fourteen men together and early Sunday morning they started. All day they worked—all day and into the night, for the electric lights on Ruger avenue made it possible for the men to pile up leaf long after darkness had fallen.

Not until the last plant was down and stacked in the field so as to be safe from freezing did the men stop.

About 1 o'clock this morning Jack Frost arrived but the Randall crop was safe.

SMALL SUNDAY NIGHT FIRE
Unoccupied House on River Street Damaged to the Extent of $300.

John Connelley's two story house, corner of Rock and River streets, was found to be afire at 11:30 last night. The flames had started in a pile of waste paper under the front stairs. Before the department got the flames under control the building had suffered $300 damage.

The house was unoccupied the Sperry family moving out last Friday. The house was insured for $1,000 with Carter & Hazelton. Chief Spencer is in doubt whether the fire was incendiary or caused by spontaneous combustion.

[Copyright, 1897, by Clark Russell.]

It was in that voyage that I took in the Empire that I made up my mind to knock off the sea. We was homeward bound from Adelaide, and I was keeping a lookout one black night on the fok'sle, when, there coming a yelling spit of soaking blast slap into my face, I lifts up my fist and brings it down on the rail. For more than 20 year had I used the sea, and what was it come to? An old chest, two or three shifts of rags, a pair of sea boots and, s'help me, no more. Through the improvidence of the sailor? By thunder, then, no! What's Providence got to do with such a withered life as the ocean? Saving means getting, and where in niggers is the getting to be found where it's all living hard, faring hard, dying hard and going to hell after all?

Beef you could chisel into snatch blocks, pork too foul to grease your boots with, kicks and curses aft, wet and famine forrards—is it good enough? With a fok'sle so full of fired Dutchmen—why, when they hoist the English red ensign the flag's the bitterest lie since Annyus and Sophia.

But how was I to get a living ashore? That was the question that occupied my attention when I walked them decks in solitude. I'd say to my mates, "What 'ud you do if you knocked off?" and some was for going to sea again, and the rest was for the work'us. I'd seen so little of life ashore that I couldn't guess how men got their livings. What was a merchant? He was a covey who traded. What was a clerk? He was a covey who sat on a stool and wrote in a book. No use of my laying a course for the likes of that. My taste went to the country, deep inland. I fancied I'd like to get a job under a market gardener. I'd feel pleased when I thought of reaping wheat and cutting down grass, of going home at sundown on top of a wagon load of hay, the air sweet as nuts, and sitting down to a bursting blowout of ale and roasted apples and bread and cheese. "Go away, salt water!" I'd think then.

I was about 35 years old and looked 45. Lobscouse'll serve you measlier than weather. They say a weak heart paints the nose blue, which colors the spirits. Soup and bully's worse than a decayed vital, and if you leave your teeth in the mess kid how many spoonfuls of peas soup do it take to raise a wrinkle?

The ship duly arrived, and I, along with the rest, was paid off. There was 23 months' wages to take up, so I had scope to ride by. I took a lodging at 2 Bromley street, Commercial road, and spent £3 in a landgoing rig out. Then I was at a loss. The name of the landlady was Mrs. Bloomer, and her husband was a waterman. Meeting her one day in the passage as I was going to take a turn to look about me, I says:

"I should like to have a short yarn with you, missis, if you've got a minute."

"Certainly, sir," she answers.

"Don't 'sir' me, I beg," says I. "I'm no dog."

She steps me into a bit of a parlor, close with careful keeping. There was a little looking glass over the mantel-shelf, bound in yaller gauze, with oyster shells for occasional ornaments, and a glass case, with a stuffed bird, in the front window.

"Can I sit?" says I.

"Why, yes," says she, smiling. "It can't hurt you."

I put down my cap and took a chair and says: "Mrs. Bloomer, I've been a sailorman all my life and have come ashore to find a job, meaning to stop ashore. I've got a few pounds and can hold out for some time, and I want you to tell me how I ought to go to work."

"What's your age?" says she, looking me over.

I told her.

"There's a many situations a-going," says she, "and a handy man ought never to want for a job. Why not turn waterman?"

"No more water for me," says I.

"Light porter," says she.

Thought she meant something to drink.

"Can you drive a 'orse?"

"I don't fancy driving," says I.

"Look 'ere, Mr. Pooley," says she, "your chance'll lie in advertising. Write out a little piece for the papers. It'll cost you about 3 or 4 shillings to put in. Answers'll come, and you can pick and choose."

I allowed this to be up to the knocker, and in that same room she and me made out this advertisement:

"A sailorman wants a job. He is an all round hand, useful anywhere and any time, being accustomed to a calling that runs a day's work into 24 hours and pays no overtime wages. Address William Pooley, 2 Bromley street, Commercial road, E."

When Bloomer came home that night, he recommended me to put the piece in to the paper which says it has the largest circulation in the world. This I did next day—forget the cost. Valuing it in pints of beer, call it four gallons. I'm a slow hand at reading, and it took me a smothered long time to spell through the advertisements on the day when the piece I had wrote was to appear. At last down in a corner I spies my name.

"Who's a-going to see this?" says I to Mrs. Bloomer, putting my finger upon it.

"It do look insignificant, certainly," said she.

"Who the blooming blazes is a-going to see it?" says I, a-bringing down my fist.

"You never can tell," says Mrs. Bloomer.

I went out for a turn that afternoon and sat for a spell with an old shipmate that had brought up in the home, in Well street. He had said to me:

"You'll never get rid of it, Bill. O'er and o'er I've been a-giving of it up. Six times have I been a-running, and I've tried my hand as barber, dorg fancying and wheel chair man. All no go," says he. "Here I am three weeks ashore from Jamaica, and now I'm a-looking for another ship. They don't want sailors on dry land. You'll be drove back to it."

When I returned to my lodging, I found a letter addressed to Mr. William Pooley.

"Blistered if it ain't been seen arter all!" said I, grinning like a fool.

I opens the letter and, going to the window, holds it out and reads it. It was from a gent, saying he had seen my advertisement and was willing to give me a job, but I must invest some money along with him. Mrs. Bloomer said that I must look to get a number of letters of that sort. They was all thieves who wrote 'em, and I was to take no notice. She tore the letter up, fearing that I might be tempted to call upon the old covey.

Well, after that letter I heard no more. Who was a-going to see my name down in that there corner? I looked round at the office four days after the notice had appeared and says to a clerk, "Considering," I says, "the cost I've been put to, I'm surprised," says I, "not to have got any answers."

"Put it in again," says he.

"Down in that corner?" says I.

"What's your charge for half of one of them pages of your'n with that there notice printed big, right amidstships of the white?"

"We don't do business in that sort of way," says he. "If we did, the cost 'ud keep you to wind'ard of jobs for the rest of your shining days."

When I got to the lodging that afternoon, Mrs. Bloomer told me a party had called to see me.

"Something in the job line?" says I.

"I can't say, I'm sure," says she, and I thought that her manner was changed. She had a sort of cast in her eyes and looked at the wall past my head, though she was a-staring hard at me, taking me in.

"What did the party want?" says I.

"She was a female," she answers. "I believe she'll be able to find you a job, Mr. Pooley. She'll be here at half past 10 tomorrow morning if convenient to you."

I went to my room and smoked a pipe. There was no letters in answer to my notice. The paper might have the biggest circulation in the world, but its corner pieces wasn't read. What female party was this a-asking after me? A good many women kept shops. Numbers was widows in the 'baccy, sweetmeat and other lines. Any sort of a job ashore would suit me, and one to my taste for all I knew might be coming along tomorrow at half past 10.

Half past 10 came round right enough, for if there's one thing that never disappoints a man it's time. That old bloke, drawn with a beard and a log glass, always keeps his blushing word. There was no letter from the largest circulation. I had come back from getting a mouthful of breakfast and was a-shaving—it was about half past 10. While I was all lather comes a knock, and Mrs. Bloomer sings out, "Mr. Pooley, the party that called yesterday is awaiting to see you in my parlor."

"Right," says I, and wiping off the soap I put on my jacket and went down stairs.

There was a woman and her little boy standing by the table. She wore a green hat and looked to be got up for a Sunday outing. The boy for his tidy looks was like one of them children that sings in the streets along with men in clean jumpers and women with babies under their shawls. Mrs. Bloomer, standing beside the door, says, "This is Mr. Pooley."

When I steps in, the woman too: and dodged a bit, shooting her head out first to port, then to starboard, a-screw-driving of her eyes into me with the twistings of her face. She then says faintly:

"Lor—why—yes, Bill!" And grasping the table she fell to rocking herself, very quietly, saying once or twice softly, "Bill, Bill," but with a note of such grief and reproach that an old goat might have been moved by it.

"What's this?" says I, turning upon Mrs. Bloomer.

"Oh, Bill," shrieks the woman on a sudden, holding out her hands to me, "don't pretend not to know me if I'm not to drop dead. Here's your child, your own little William. He was 6 months old when you left me, and—and—oh, William, think—now he's 6 years."

And with that she lifts him right on to the table, calling out: "Look at your father, Billy. Ask him if he ain't ashamed to have left his poor wife for nigh six year, with never one word to say whether he was alive or dead?"

I thought to myself, "Bloomer if I don't think now that them corner pieces in the largest circulation are read!" Mrs. Bloomer's face was like a ship's figurehead, hard with feelings.

"You're quite mistaken," says I. "I never was married in this here world, and so if I've got a wife she must be an angel."

"Never was married!" she screamed, running up to me, while the boy sang out, "Mother, I shall fall!" and Mrs. Bloomer put him down. "Never was married!" she shrieks. "D'you mean to say you forget courting me at my father's, Simon Dadds, who kept the hostelry called the Sinking Star, on the Sandwich road? Never was married," she yells, with her words streaming in a quick rattle like coal from a tip, "when the church was St. George's, at Deal, and the date June 24, 1876? Never was married? Oh, Bill!" And, seizing me by the arm, she pulls me to the window and sobs out: "Oh, Bill, if you ain't sq changed, I can't be! I've been alone for nigh six years. Look at your child. It's me as has fed him and done for him, or where'd he be? Don't say you don't know me. I never expected that."

And here, letting go of my arm, she buries her face and lets fly all her nerves in screechings.

"Why don't you comfort her?" says Mrs. Bloomer.

"Why don't you?" says I. "She's got nothing to do with me."

With that I walks out. The woman flies after me.

"Bill, Bill!" she bawls, catching hold of me.

I turned and said, "What's it you want?"

Here the young un began to cry, roaring for mother.

"What's all this about?" says Bloomer, coming up from the kitchen. He'd got a cold in his head and was a-lying by.

"Joe," answered Mrs. Bloomer, "this poor woman has been deserted along with her child for nigh upon six year, and now she says she's found her man in Mr. William Pooley."

"I've had almost enough of this here larking, hain't you?" says I to the woman. "Who are you and what d'you want? You don't believe I'm your husband, Bloomer, s'elp me, as I stand a living man, I never was married, and that woman knows it."

"How should she know it?" squawked Mrs. Bloomer like a gull in a gale.

"Got you there, Pooley," says Bloomer in a voice thick as gruel with cold.

"I was married," cried the woman, "at St. George's, Deal, June 21, 1876, and William Pooley was my man's name. Simon Dadds was my father and kept a hostelry. Oh, ma'am, that he can stand there and pretend not to know nor remember. If my father were alive—he was a sailor then," she sings out, pointing at me. "Will you tell me that you don't recollect stopping the carriage at the Deal Luggery inn as we drove from church and treating the boatmen? Didn't you likewise stop at the Yarmouth Packet and keep father awaiting dinner for us?"

"I tell you," I roared out, breaking in to her noise, "that I don't know you, and that I never was married, and that you've mistook your man."

Here Bloomer, stumping back to his kitchen, stops at the head of the staircase to call out:

"Settle it quickly, and don't make no noise, for this 'ouse 'as got a name to lose. I know what sailors are, and mubbee it is and mubbee it ain't. Lizzie, keep you clear, and if the parties'll come to tams outside it'll be agreeable." And down he went.

"Are you going to tell me, Mr. Pooley," says Mrs. Bloomer, whose face showed a relish for this shindy, for all that it was as hard as sailors' beef, "that there's no truth in this party's statements?"

"None," I yelled, for their working up of my old iron was a-making me redhot.

"And you tell us," says Mrs. Bloomer, with a sneer, "that a woman's memory won't allow her to recognize her husband after six years of desertion?"

"He was 6 months old," says the other, sobbing and pointing to her boy, "when we was left. He sailed in a ship called the Miranda. I've never heard of him since, but I knew he was alive, for he deserted at Sydney and arrived at Liverpool in a ship called the Simon 'Orkins, and that I larnt," she screamed,

"Oh, Bill!" shrieks the woman.

rounding upon me, "from Jim Redpath, who had sailed with you afore and came home with you in the 'Orkins."

When she had said this, I pulled off my jacket and waistcoat, bared my arms to the elbows, and, opening my starched shirt, I turned it under, that they might see to the flesh of me. They yelled and fell back, thinking I was going for them, and Bloomer came up stairs again, sneezing. I ran my fingers through my hair, and, flinging open the house door, that the light of God, which the minister says is the truth itself, might shine upon me, I lays hold of the woman and pulls her on to the doorsteps and sings out:

"Now look at me. Can you see me? Was this 'ere chest your William's?"

CARE OF THE WARDROBE.

The Secret of Dressing Well—Brush and Smooth Your Clothes.

It is not wealthy women alone who love good taste or who wish to keep up with the procession in the matter of fashion. Aptitude and neat handedness go a great way in affairs of the wardrobe, as every skillful lady's maid could bear witness, and a poor, clever woman has often more "style" about her than a rich, unhandy one. The mere putting on of clothes counts for a great deal—the smoothing out of wrinkles, the arrangement of accessories and the carrying of the costume. It is care in these matters that insures elegance and separates one from the crowd. Then, again, keeping the wardrobe in good order has much to do with the refinement of one's appearance. Many women who have money enough to buy all the pretty things they fancy will throw a garment down in a chair and sit in it, let it trail on the floor or put it away unshaken and unbrushed. However elegant and expensive it may have looked in the beginning, such a course of treatment will make it appear shabby and tawdry. Cleanliness, neatness and order are the absolute requisites of the wardrobe, whether it be costly or cheap. All clothing worn in the street, from the shoes to the hat, should be removed and brushed as soon as one enters the house.

LAWN COSTUME.

The illustration given today shows a costume of red lawn. The skirt is accordion plaited and has a sort of yoke of white guipure. From the back of this yoke extend two narrow plaitings of red mousseline de soie, headed by black satin ribbon, which come forward, terminating near the foot at each side of the front under a bow of black satin. The blouse bodice is of red lawn, gathered under a yoke of guipure, which is framed in a plaiting of red mousseline de soie. The collar and belt are of black satin, and from the belt, under each arm, come two black satin ribbons, which are tied in a bow upon the breast. The sleeves are close, having a slight bouffancy at the top.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE REIGNING MODE.

Sleeves and Belts—Increasing Popularity of Gray in All Shades.

Leather or kid belts, narrow and fastened by decorative buckles, are much worn in white, gray, fawn, tan and beige.

GRAY COSTUME.

Red ones and green ones of brilliant shades are also seen, to accompany particular costumes.

It was a long time before the large sleeve submitted to be influenced in any way. Fashion might come and go, but that particular fashion was unmovable, and arm coverings remained unchanged. Now that their diminishing is an accomplished fact, however, they seem to be altering daily in every possible way. There is as much variety at present as there used to be sameness. The only requisite is that the shape of the arm should be followed as far as the lower part, after buoyancy being confined to the upper part. As long as this regulation is complied with freedom is unlimited, and all sorts of decorations, ruffles, bands, shirrings, straps and draperies are employed.

Gray is becoming decidedly fashionable for all grades of gowns. It is always elegant and refined looking, and in medium and dark shades is serviceable for general wear. The lighter and more delicate shades are now seen in the new models of elaborate gowns and are very happily combined with white, pale yellow or soft rose.

A sketch is given today of a charming costume of silver gray canvas. The skirt is laid in flat box plaits, with smaller plaits between them, and is mounted on a yoke of white guipure embroidered with gold. The plaited bodice of canvas has a corset of embroidered guipure, and the close sleeves are entirely composed of the embroidered guipure, with a small puff of canvas at the top. The gown is made over gray silk, and the collar and belt are of straw satin. The hat of white straw is trimmed with yellow roses and rose foliage.

ELASTIC STARCH has been before the people of the United States for twenty-three years and is without doubt the greatest starch invention of the Nineteenth Century. Last year its sale reached the unprecedented number of twenty million packages. It is prepared upon scientific principles by men who have had years of practical experience in laundry laundering. It makes ironing easy, restores old summer dresses to their natural whiteness, and imparts to linen a beautiful and lasting finish. It is the only starch manufactured that is perfectly harmless, containing neither arsenic, alum, or any other substance injurious to health, and can be used as safely as a baby powder.

"MY WIFE BLAMED ME

For bringing home a dollar's worth of that choice roasted Rio Coffee. Said she knew that it couldn't be very good because there was ten pounds of it and we had always used a 35c grade of Coffee. She thought it impossible to get a fine flavored Coffee at so low a price. She was agreeably surprised, however, after the first trial, and now thinks it about as good as any she ever used." One of our customers related this little Coffee talk to us a few days ago and his story of good quality in this FANCY RIO, TEN POUNDS FOR ONE DOLLAR, is vouched for by others. It's a bargain. We have others.
